Preface

This book has been designed for the E.S.L learners who study English as a second language. It depicts all for necessary language skill required is a Basic English language course.

The aim of this book is to develop the concept of G.S.L (Grammar, Sense and Logic) so that learner can come across with an effective learning.

The book based upon different articles, Exercises, work sheets and comprehensive vocabularies as the learners abstruse and face difficulties and complexities to use a word appropriately. This book will assist learners to use vocabs adequately on a colloquial situation.

It is an earnestly entreaty to the reader of this book to kindly overlook the typing errors which they might find in some places with an assurance of their rectification. In the next revised edition.

Being an author of this book I keep a hope this book will contribute substantially to better need and enhancement of the learner of all communications' skill.

Dear Students:

I would like to warm welcome to all of you in my Institute TBI. I am quite certain that you must have had a splendid atmosphere here.

It really gives me an immense pleasure to share my past experience and expertise with you.

Well, I have associated with TESOL field since the past 7 years. I have designed many curriculums of English language and literature for the schools and as well as for the language institutes.

I have traveled across the Pakistan to train ELT practitioners and am presently working as a founder member of BERDS (British Education Research Development Society). I hold a master degree in English literature.

Learning English is fun like riding a bicycle as you start learning. First you fall down then you come back strongly again. So, keep striving to learn unless you become perfect rider.

Best wishes to all of you...

There is a vertical red margin line on the left side, creating a narrow left margin. The paper appears to be from a notebook or a standard ruled sheet of paper.

Angie Griffin

Most people hate traffic jams but not nineteen years old Angie griffin. Angie is a motorcycle courier, whose job involves delivering important packages and letters to different parts of London traffic.

She actually enjoys the day-to-day battle with the London traffic specially the thrills of getting somewhere fast. She likes being a courier even though some people think; it is not a very suitable job for a woman. I can't understand what they're talking about says Angie.

The only trouble is they don't pay me enough I m going to ask for a rise next month in the rapidly developing dockland area of the End.

Everyone is moving here now. It's full of yuppies and BMWs. It'll be like New York in a few years time. Full of skyscrapers. My mum says the cost of living is going up so much we won't be able to live here much longer when Angie is not at work she is a bit of a fitness fanatic. She belongs to a health club and goes there regularly after work.

I would like to be connected with sport. I'm certainly not going to be a courier for ever.

Sometimes dream of being a sport's Photographer or a Journalist. I often tell my mum: one day, when I'm rich and famous I'll buy you a house in the country, but all she really wants to be able to stay where she is, in the east end of London. I can't understand that, I want to get out and do something with my life.

Glossary:

Yuppies: Young urban professional people with high incomes and fashionable lifestyles.

Skyscrapers:

Tall and large buildings.

What do you think a receptionist / General assistant has to do?

What sort of person is the hotel owner

Looking for?

Receptionist / General Assistant

For Taj hotel in a popular tourist resort. Applicants must be at least 21 years old. They should be friendly and outgoing, and have at least one year's experience.

Excellent salary.

Please send your application, with a photograph and CV to Tajhotelpop@yahoo.com

6 Arundel place
Brighton
England

14th September

Dear sir,

I am writing to apply for a job of Receptionist/General Assistant.

I am 24 years old. I left school at 18 and studied for one year at Pitman Secretarial College, where I got a Diploma. I worked as a secretary in London for four years, including four months as a receptionist for a large company.

At the moment I am working as receptionist at the Sands Hotel, Brighton. I have been there for the past six months. I would like to work as a receptionist in your hotel because I enjoy hotel work and I would like the experience of working abroad.

I enclose a photograph and my curriculum vitae, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,
Penny Wright.

Dialogues

Part 1:

A: I'm so sorry I'm late; I couldn't find your office.

B: That's right. Sit down Now. You're working at a hotel in Brighton.

A: That's right.

B: well, I'm a receptionist, so I answer the phone and sit at the reception desk, obviously, and give people their keys and... generally work as a receptionist.

Part 2:

B: Now at this hotel we do everything on computers, of course, so you'll have a computer at the reception desk. Do you have experience of computers?

A: Well, I don't use a computer in my job at the moment, no-it's just a small family hotel-but we learned about computers at college, and I used a computer when I worked in an office, so I don't think that would be a problem.

Part 3:

B: Now, why do you want to leave your present job and come here?

A: Well, as I said, the hotel where I am now is a small hotel and I really want to work somewhere bigger. Also the hours are very long.

B: The hours are long, so you don't want to work long hours, then?

A: Oh yes, I don't mind working hard. I just mean that the job's a bit boring, you know.
there isn't really enough to do.

A: I see.

Bronco McLaughlin-Twentieth Century Cowboy

Bronco McLaughlin was born and brought up in Ireland. At the age of sixteen he left and went to live in Australia. When I was a boy I always wanted to be a cowboy. In Australia I got a job on a cattle-ranch and that where I learned to ride and became a good rider and a few years later. I started taking part in roads riding wild horses' competition. It was in Australia that I really learnt about horses. How to look after them and how to train them to do what you want them to do.

In 1966 after 12 years in Australia, Bronco went home to island to see his father. By chance a film company was making a film near his home the film was called Viking queen and they wanted a good rider to be an extra. Bronco got the job and than he got another one and than another one. Stunts became his life. He learned to do all kinds of things that most people consider dangerous. Now, he is an all-round stuntman. But he still specializes in working with horses. His home is in England, but he is away for most of the year because he works on films all over the world.

Billionaire:

Bill gate's house is on a lake, so you can go there by boat or by car. It's quite big-it has six bedrooms and about 20 other rooms. There's a big dining room, which has seats for about 100 people, and there's also a beautiful library with a lots of books. The library also has a notebook with writing by Leonardo da Vinci, and that cost more than $30 million. And what's interesting is that there are video screens everywhere-on the walls in all the rooms, even the bathrooms-and these just show pictures-so one day you can have a Picasso, and the next day you can have a Van Gogh, and so on. So it's a nice place, and the rooms have big windows, so you can see lake and the mountains.

Madame Tussaud's Museum

Madame Tussaud's is a waxwork museum in central London. It contains wax models of famous people, living and dead: kings and queens; film star, politicians, pop idols and murderers. Over two million people visit the museum every year, making it Britain's number one tourist attraction.

The original Madame Tussaud's lived nearly 200 years ago. She started making models in wax as a teenager and came to London from Paris in 1802. After traveling around the country with her waxwork exhibition for many years, she set up the museum in 1835. Her grandsons moved it to its present home fifty years later.

The team of full-time sculptors at Madame Tussaud's cannot work fast but they do their job well, and the models are amazingly lifelike. The celebrity visits the museum first to meet the sculptor, who takes hundreds of photographs and measurements. The celebrity usually provides clothes for the model to wear. Each model takes about six months to complete because the sculptors have to work slowly and carefully. They make the eyes separately and put real human hair into the wax one hair at a time. 'It's important that people recognize the people. When celebrities are no longer popular, we replace the model quickly, says a spokesperson. Madame Tussaud's changes with the times. In the future, with the use of computer technology, the museum is planning to show figures that can walk and talk.

About Heathrow airport one of the biggest airport in the world.

Heathrow airport is the busiest international airport in the world.

More than 90 airlines use Heathrow. They fly direct to around 200 destinations in 85 countries around the world.	57,000 people work at Heathrow- that's the population of a small town. Heathrow handles around 75,000,000 items of baggage every year.
Every year, Heathrow handles 430,000 international flights. That's an average of 1200 every day more than one a minute from six o'clock in the morning till midnight.	There are 9, 500 baggage trolleys for passengers- more than at any other airport. Passengers lose 20 mobile phones every day. Passengers buy 26,000 cups of tea and 6,500 sandwiches at Heathrow every day
The duty-free shops sell a bottle of whisky every seven seconds- that's more than 500 bottles an hour.	The most common illness among passengers is heart attack. Every year about 40 people die in this way while traveling to or through Heathrow.
Heathrow police station has 14 dogs that can smell drugs and 300 police officers.

At Airport

1. Well, I don't like flying very much, so I'm usually a bit nervous at airports. I like... I like to sit near the notice boards and listen to all the announcements, because I'm always that I'm going to go to the wrong place, or miss the plane.
2. I get a bit bored at airports. The flights are always late and there isn't much to do, you just have to sit and wait. Sometimes I look around the duty-free shops, but usually I just take a good book to read, or listen to music, may be, on my walkman.
3. I always find airport very exciting to be. I like the feeling of the people traveling, going to far-away place. Yeah, it's really exciting. I like to walk around, see the planes taking off and landing, and just look at all, be other place, see where they're going, what they're doing, yeah, I really enjoy it.

Occupations

I work as a cleaner in a big hotel. It's not a very nice job. I have to get up very early –I get up at about 5 O'clock, and I have to start work at 6. And some of the people are friendly, but not all of them – of course I always have to be polite, and that's quite difficult sometimes.

One good thing is, I don't have to work long hours-I have to finish at about 10 in the morning, and then I go home.

Imran works on a fishing boat. It's a hard job, and it's quite dangerous too. He has to be very careful when the weather's bad, we go out to sea for about three or four weeks usually, so he has to be away from home a lot. The good thing about is that, he does not have to work for a year, he has to only work six months, and that's good enough to live on.

I work in an Italian restaurant in London-I'm a waitress. And it's quite a nice job, I like it. I have to be nice to everyone and I have to smile a lot, of course, but people are usually friendly anyway, so that's not a problem. I have to work late in the evening, usually till about 11 or 12 at night. But then I don't have to get up early because I don't have to work in the morning.

She should punish him every time he steals from her.

She should ask the boy's doctor for help.

She should tell the police.

My son steals

We're a married couple with two children, an 11-year-old boy and a 4-year-old girl. Two years ago, my son started to steal money from me. If I catch him he cries a lot and says he will never do it again. I don't think he's unhappy: we get on well as a family and we all do things together in the evenings and at weekends. We give him plenty of pocket money, too. I just can't understand why he keeps on stealing.

She shouldn't leave money lying around the house.

She shouldn't give him any more pocket money.

She shouldn't punish him- she should try to find out why he steals.

Money Cannot Buy Happiness

Money Vs. Love

My best friend had everything at her disposal. She wore imported clothes, Lived in a luxurious villa and had a Car at her disposal. But still, her life was so sad story. Why? Because her parents were so, busy in their business that they seldom met her. Poor Girl! Unfortunately, the money they earned was not able to bring even a smile on her face. One should bear in mind that happiness is not merely a feeling of pleasure as defined in a dictionary but actually it refers to an ever lasting and true satisfaction, freshness, calmness and joy of the soul which is definitely priceless. So my friends take a break and think whether the Worldly perishable goods like clothes, cars, Houses, e.t.c. can get you the ultimate happiness or not. It is an indisputable fact that man does not live by bread alone. Having heaps of money can't calm a dissatisfied and restless soul. No bank balance would buy you peace and satisfaction. The dollar power is simply nil when it comes to the matter of buying love. No matter how wealthy a childless couple is, they can never buy their own child. Also, even if you give bagsful of money to an orphan he will still miss parental love. Will you sacrifice your friends and family for a million or even a trillion dollars? Can your money replace the love of your relatives and family? Would you Console a person who has lost his mother by giving him money? Of course, not money can't buy you bright and joyous moments in life. It can never mend broken hearts. It is only our relatives who wipe our tears who offer us consolation and fill our lives with color. In addition, if a person is dying of cancer, what good will his property and saving do to him? This money is just useless for him and without his loved ones.

Even his last days would be miserable.

If money were really a source of happiness and satisfaction, why would people with plum salaries switch to more challenging and interesting jobs?

Why would a person get pleasure from teaching and not being a top accountant? Furthermore, just look around you and see how parents complain of their defiant children even though they had spent hefty amount on their tuitions and grooming classes? It is a pity that such parents always remain unhappy as they can buy everything for their children except good manners. Can you ever imagine a corrupt person who earn lot of money and manages to stay happy and calm? Were the wealthy unbelievers of Makah more contended than the faithful? Did pharaoh's treasury bring him happiness and success in life? The sole answer to all these questions is simply no. Isn't it a crystal clear fact that money is not the yardstick to measure happiness? You see wealth does not decide human happiness and money can never replace the pleasure of having good relationship. Additionally, we need to have self-satisfaction to be happy, not just load of money.

Do We Deserve to Live in the 21st Century

The 21st century is an age of the science and the people of this century and scientific minded. In this increasingly flourishing and advancing kingdom, words like love, affection, penchant and sentiments are becoming quite foreign. I sometimes wonder, what's the use of living in a world where a person gains the whole world but loses his soul? In this century, spiritualism is on the wane while materialism is on the increase. Philosophy, culture and poetry are fading from the earthly life because of the rapid advancement of science in this century.

The man of 21st century is increasingly depending on machine which is in turn making him lethargic. While on the one hand computers have opened new vistas, but on the other it has subsequently created the problem of unemployment. Furthermore, the man of the 21st century cannot walk for a kilometer because he depends more and more on automobiles. The result is that, most of us suffer from various diseases and cannot enjoy a healthy and vigorous life.

We, the people of twenty first century have no time to entertain our families. We do not have any leisure time. Our lives have become so busy and mechanical that we do not have any time to "stand and stare". Our lives have become artificial, devoid of charm and delight we have also forgotten our traditions and culture and our customs are in deplorable condition. We are straying away from our religion and are forgetting that "This World is a Cultivating Ground for the Hereafter". Although the invention of once unimaginable scientific devices has made our lives comfortable, majority of us are not well educated to use these machines. People do not have any idea how to exploit from this advanced technology while many others are still deprived of these facilities.

On the other hand scientists are busy in making further amelioration in the field of armaments and the day is not very far when by switching of a button, the whole humanity will become a thing of the past. Where the millions of people are dying of starvation, more than 60 percent of a country's budget is spent on war-games. Ultimately, the whole wealth of a country is being consumed by hell-fires of war.

Industries and factories still give out smoke and pollution remains an unsolved problem even after such advancement of science.

Thus, people die prematurely because of diseases caused by atmospheric pollution. What an irony of fact it is! The Man of 21st century has a sensitive Heart, Lung and a sensitive Liver due to fast speed, smoking atmosphere and dusty roads. So, we see that in this century, technology has created more problems than it has solved, socially as well as psychologically.

All in all, we don't desire to live in a country where technology has made us mechanical in outlook, ruthless, materialistic in thinking and cold and calculation in behavior
